Orienteering News update: locally, nationally, around the world

Local

New name at the top of Course 2: The 5th of May at Sedgwick gave the club a new name at the top of the Course 2 results - Tavish! Well done.

Local map update: As Bendigo orienteers we are lucky to have so many maps close to home. Depending on how you count them, there are 30 bush maps and 20 park and sprint maps. These maps are a bequest from past and present members who contributed to their creation through field work, event organisation and paying their entry fees every week. There is a price to pay for the luxury of maps close to town... they can become inaccurate quickly. The track network evolves as new tracks are created (mostly illegally) by informal park users. New fences appear, the most notable being that around the gold mine. The vegetation changes as a result of drought, bushfire and good rainfall. Many of our favourite maps are now ten or even twenty years old. They need to be remapped. Chris Creely is currently working on updating Wildflower Drive. If you have ever become totally confused trying to match the tracks on the map with those on the ground, you will understand why this is necessary. This should be the first of many similar tasks. Other obvious priorities for remapping are Diamond Hill and Devonshire Reef.

Bendigo Orienteers team up with the Victorian Rogaining Association: In the last newsletter you will have seen the advertisement for a Rogaine taking place in the forest between Kingower and Melvilles Caves. If you checked your dates you will have realised this was taking place on the same day as a local event on Fiddlers Green. Further checking would have also revealed that the organiser for both events were Bendigo Club members. After committee discussion, the Bendigo local event has now shifted to Kingower and will use the rogaining controls for a two hour score event. It makes sense to share the workload when there is more than enough work for the available volunteer hours. This is your chance to sample the delights of rogaining and not miss the local event. That must be the best of both worlds. More details elsewhere in the newsletter.

State

Victorian Sprint Champions and our juniors upstage our veterans: The Victorian Sprint Championships were held on the newly mapped Haileybury College, in Keysborough, in Melbourne's southeast. Competitors were thrown straight into a maze of irregularly shaped buildings, corridors and courtyards for the first few controls, then a long open run took them to another complex of buildings. The last third featured more open running as legs were tiring, before a final foray back into the maze. Some closely positioned controls caught a few unawares. Nevertheless, fast times were recorded across all age groups. There was a sizeable contingent of

won W12A. In M14A the majority of the field was from Bendigo or ex-Bendigo. Glenn James (a Space Racing graduate, but now a Mornington Peninsula resident) came second to Tavish, with Lachlan Cherry fourth. Laurina Neumann took third in the woman's elite class. In the men's elite Bendigo again showed some style, with Bryan first, Evan third, Matt Schepisi fourth, evergreen fifty-something and club president Jim coming seventh and Dave Brownridge ninth. Most notable performance of the day was in the junior elite class. These young men ran the same course as the elite men. James Robertson won this class with a time faster than the winner of the elite men! But where were the Bendigo veterans? Jim and Louise were the only over 30s entrant from our club! Louise spent the next day lamenting on her blog how she almost came third.

Club President sets out to cause trouble at the Victorian Mountain Bike Orienteering Championships: Yes, Jim again. Not content with running against the elite men in the Sprint championship, Jim entered the elite class at the recent Victorian MTBO Championships which doubled as a selection trial for the World MTBO Championships team. John Chellew was only other Bendigo entrant. Jim achieved his goal of embarrassing the selectors by placing third in both the middle and long races. This would have earned him selection for the National team if he had chosen to put his name forward. Not bad for someone his age who doesn't train for the discipline.

New Maps: In Easter next year a the national orienteering carnival will take place in this region. A carnival of this significance requires new or remapped areas. Finding these areas near Bendigo isn't hard. Getting permission to hold events on these areas has proved much more challenging. The bushland south of the Crusoe reservoir is managed partly by the City of Greater Bendigo and partly by Parks Victoria. Access is not a problem and the first draft of a map was completed in early May. That draft is now being checked by others to ensure it is up to standard. Bendigo La Trobe Campus will be the venue for the spring day of the carnival. Mapping will start soon with enthusiastic support of the university. For many years orienteers have looked through the fence around Spring Gully Reservoir and wondered what lay within. Next year you will find out. Nigel McGuckian has negotiated access through the locked gates for this orienteering event. This may be a once only chance to run through an area that has been out of bounds to us all for decades. Chris Creely will start mapping this intriguing area soon. The final area is Mt Alexander. This was last mapped in 1984. The Tuckonie orienteering club has already had a remap undertaken by Alex Tarr. There remains some uncertainty over access due to concerns about the impact on the rare and endangered Shepherd's Purse that grows on moss beds only within this park. Negotiations are underway. If we do gain permission to use this area, it may also be a once only opportunity.

Next State Series Event: Irishtown is the venue for the next State Series event on 20 May. Don't miss your chance to run in this area of challenging gold mining terrain.

National

Bendigo members selected for Australian University Championships: The Championships will be held in Alicante, Spain, from the 2-6 July. The World University Championships has a reputation for great orienteering, very strong fields studded with the top European orienteers, and a creative post-event social experience. There was a strong field of nominees from across Australia seeking selection for this event. Three Bendigo orienteers gained selection- Bryan Keely, Ilka Barr and Laurina Neumann. Another Bendigo member, Evan Barr, has been appointed team manager.

World Championships Selection Race: As this is being written, the selection races for the National orienteering team for the World Championships are underway in Newcastle. Preliminary results are in for the sprint and middle distance races. The good form of our local aspirants continues. In the sprint field of 37 entrants, Bryan Keely appears to have achieved 4th and Evan Barr 5th. Yes, Jim was in there as well, but not creating as much concern for the selectors as his MTB foray.

Australian Championships Carnival entries open: The national carnival takes place this year on the north east coast of Tasmania between the 22nd and 30th of September. It's a rare chance to run on the wonderful tin mining terrain out the back of St Helens. This is something every orienteer should have on their bucket list. There is also a selection of granite and spur gully terrains. In between events you can visit Freycinet and Bay of Fires National Parks and watch the seals and blowhole at Bicheno. You don't need to qualify to enter. Just visit the Orienteering Tasmania web site.

International

The big relays: The European orienteering season starts as the snow retreats. The first really big race of the season is the 10-Mila in Sweden. This is a ten person relay team that starts at the setting of the sun and continues through the night into the following morning. The teams are based upon clubs rather than countries and the clubs take the event very seriously. The big Scandinavian clubs draft the top orienteers from around the world. For some years the top Australian orienteers have run for some of these clubs in these relays. There are thousands of entrants and many of them are navigating through the night. You can look at the maps, courses and route choices if you visit the worldofO web site. For me the best story of the race was told by a young Welsh orienteer, Kris Jones. His blog recounts some advice he was given as a runner in the first leg " if you ever find yourself in the lead, ask yourself what you are doing", and his own advice for others after the event " If you are going to run Tiomila, try to keep both shoes on your feet". Check out the rest at this site for your amusement.
<http://bit.ly/K86VBb>

The start of this years Tiomila

Tiomila is the warm up for the really big relay of the season - Jukola. Imagine 15,000 competitors in a relay! It takes place in a different part of Finland every year. Again, teams are club based. The race has only seven members in a team, and the days are longer in mid summer. That means more of the race is run in twilight rather than darkness. The longest leg is in the middle of the night, and it is known as 'the long night'. As a warm up to the Jukola, the women run a four team race known as Venla. This year there is an Australian team entered in Jukola and also one (possibly a second) in Venla. At least four Bendigo members will be in these teams. One will be Jim Russell running the long night leg. He tries to do this every year. You will be able to follow their progress through live updates on the web, and watch the internet television coverage of the front runners. It's an experience and a half to see how much effort goes into these events, and it can be very exciting watching in real time the GPS route choices of the leading teams. More next month.

World Championships format and the future for our junior orienteers: You might think this unimportant to our club and its junior program, but think again. It is an opportunity. Over the past year there has been a vociferous debate in the international orienteering community about the future shape of World Championship carnivals. The International Orienteering Federation wants to introduce a mass start event, a knock out event and also a sprint relay to provide a better television spectacle. They would also like to reduce the number of very late finishers and to have world championships sponsored in non-traditional countries, particularly China. The existing elite orienteering community does not want to see the removal of the existing middle and long distance championships. A consensus is emerging with the Nordic countries putting forward a proposal for bi-annual championships. One year would be for traditional orienteering. There would be four races, all in forest terrain- the middle, long, relay and a mass start hagaby event with no qualification races. In alternate years there would only be sprint events, most probably a sprint, mixed sex sprint relay and a knock-out tournament series of races. Will it happen? It looks likely. The big Scandinavian nations have made the proposal. It will be to the advantage of many of the emerging orienteering nations. That will be a good-sized voting bloc. If this happens it will change the game for Australian orienteers seeking team selection. Their world ranking will be much more important, and younger orienteers will have a great opportunity to knock off the current selection favourites when the sprint year comes round. If Australia were to select a sprint team today, it is probable that two of the members would be current juniors! Sprint orienteering is only going to become more attractive to the younger generation of orienteers. And junior events in our various parks start to look like the beginnings of world championship orienteering training.

Kooyoora Rocks Rogaine

The event organiser desperately needs someone to tow a tandem trailer (the extra toilets) to the event on either the Friday late afternoon, or early on the Saturday morning, and then back to Bendigo on Sunday morning.

Also the VRA are a bit short on volunteers for this event, so anyone who would like the full Rogaining experience is encouraged to help with the event: catering, admin., and the like. You would of course be able to squeeze in the club event between jobs.

Black Crow

Last year a club member organised a space racing event at Malone Park. At the conclusion of the day, a plastic bag of control padlock keys was missing. The disappearance was a mystery. Other club members were asked to search the gear and their cars and whatever else they could think of to find the missing items. All this was to no avail.

Roll forward a year, and the same individual was again organising a Space Racing event at Malone Park. On arrival she discovered a horse dressage event underway, with horses, trailers and four wheel drives. To keep the young runners out of harms way, parents were quickly drafted to act as marshals. Marshals need high visibility vests for both safety and as a token of authority. Our organiser remembered having one in the boot where the spare wheel sits below the usual flooring of the car. She lifted the floor of the boot. The vest wasn't there. The keys were.
